

Dean, Mary Couts Burnett Library Texas Christian University

Texas Christian University (TCU) invites nominations and applications for the position of Dean of the Mary Couts Burnett Library (the Library). TCU seeks a collaborative, strategic, and visionary champion of the Library's service-centered and adaptive legacy, dedicated to the academic and scholarship needs of the University. The next Dean will have the opportunity to lead and build upon the Library's innovative, collaborative, and service-oriented focus that enhances the faculty, students, and community experience across the University.

A private university located in Fort Worth, Texas, TCU is classified as a top 100 National University by U.S. News and World Report and has a Carnegie Classification of R2: Doctoral Universities – High Research Activity. TCU has a $2.4 billion endowment and enrolls over 12,200 students, employs over 700 full-time faculty, and has a student to faculty ratio of 14:1. The Mary Couts Burnett Library employs 52 full-time staff and enables TCU in support of a robust teacher-scholar model that integrates teaching and research to benefit undergraduate and graduate students. The 2023 Princeton Review Best 388 Colleges ranked TCU Library No. 7 on its list of Best College Libraries.

MARY COUTS BURNETT LIBRARY

Growing from a small collection of books in 1874, the Library has been a long-standing academic foundation for TCU. In 1925, the Library was dedicated as the Mary Couts Burnett Library, named for the benefactor of the building from a gift in 1923, one of the largest gifts in TCU history. Providing exceptional intellectual tools, innovative technologies, interactive and academic physical space, the Mary Couts Burnett Library serves TCU's diverse community of learners across students, faculty, and the campus.

The Library offers more than 1.9 million books, nearly 200,000 journals and periodicals, a wealth of online works through the Library's website, including over 400 databases, in addition to an expansive collection of digital and special literary items housed in the main building and at the Library Annex off-site. The Library has been a depository for federal documents since 1916 and participated in the Texas depository library program for more than 60 years.

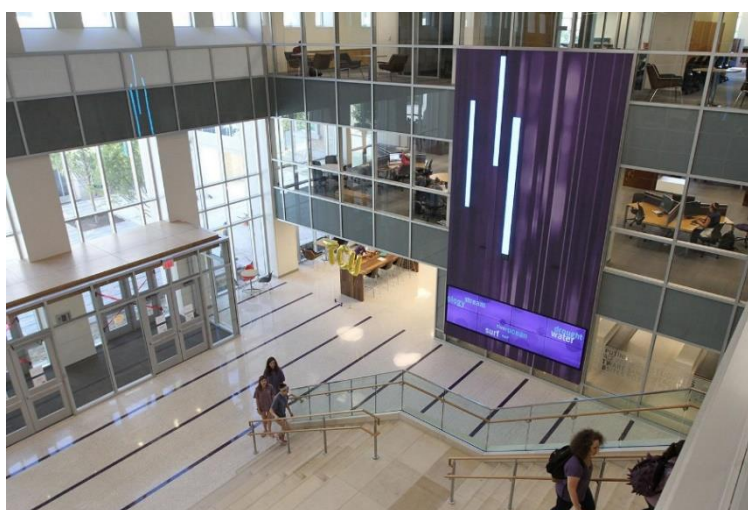

MISSION, CORE VALUES, & STRATEGIES

Mission

Our mission is organizing and providing access to quality information resources that inspire curiosity, creativity, and innovation throughout the TCU community, while offering exceptional services and surroundings that nurture our students.

Core Values

- Access: We value the ability of all to acquire, use, and build upon accurate, reliable, and relevant information, and to access welcoming spaces that foster creativity.
- Academic and Personal Achievement: We value helping the TCU Community succeed while they continue to learn, critically think, and seek information beyond the educational environment.
- Customer Focus: We value expertise, respect, kindness, and the dignity of each individual as we deliver high-quality assistance to our students and others in the TCU Community.
- Invested Staff: We value curiosity, passion, professionalism, pride, stewardship, and engagement in the life of the TCU Community.
- Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion: We value inclusion and will continue to build a library for all, with collections, services and spaces reflecting the full array of human experience and the potential of every individual.

Core Strategies

- Staff Development: We will nurture, empower, and engage staff, forming a nimble organization.
- Library as Place: Our library will be a creative hub for the TCU Community through innovative and welcoming spaces.
- Collections: We will collect and preserve unique and valuable academic resources that raise the profile of our library to a national level.
- Information Literacy: We will work to scaffold information literacy across the curriculum, equipping the TCU community with the skills needed to be effective information consumers.
- Ease of Access: We will streamline access to thoughtfully curated and managed resources.

INSIDE THE LIBRARY

In 2015, the Library underwent strategic and technology-infused renovations across 44,500 square feet, including 16,000 square feet of new space, to modernize, redesign, and update furnishing across the facility.

Today, the Library houses an array of academic and technological offerings for use by the campus community.

The inviting and inspiring physical study areas provide ample space and comfortable locations for concentrated focus or small group study. In the collaboration spaces, the Library offers media editing suites, a theatre screening room, and robust technology-filled group presentation and study rooms.

Within the Information Commons lab, the Library provides access to 100 Windows and Mac desktop computers for use 24/5, in addition laptops, headphones, and printing and scanning technology are available.

The GIGA Lab offers high-processing computers for greater memory and graphics rendering capacity needed for specialized academic subjects and research. The lab provides suites of software for both Windows and Mac for academic needs related to 3D modeling, computational coding, digital marketing, data visualizations, geo-information systems, and architectural design, among others.

The Fab Lab is a digital fabrication laboratory offering multiple 3D printers, high-definition 3D scanner, scale plotter, laser cutting and engraving tools, photography and recording equipment, and state-of-the-art virtual reality technology.

The Lizard Lounge is a social space in a relaxed setting, designed to encourage drop-in use and planned events, providing space for academic interaction designed to encourage collaboration.

Bistro Burnett Café offers convenient and functional access for Library guests to enjoy a variety of menu options, from fresh sandwiches and salads, to beverages, and on-the-go options.

The Music/Media Library contains a large repertory of music scores, collected and reference works, multimedia databases, and multidisciplinary sound and video recordings and equipment.

Located on the third floor of the Library, TCU's Special Collections include rare, unique, and irreplaceable items including historical books, papers, artifacts, maps, photography, audio, video, and other digital pieces of significance, in addition to holding the academic and historical archives of TCU since its founding.

TCU PRESS

An affiliated library operation, TCU Press is a dynamic academic press that publishes titles of significant, relevant, and innovative distinction in all fields and disciplines but especially in the areas of Texan and Southwestern history, literature, and culture, with a focus on the discovery and preservation of local and regional history as part of its mission. An independent university press responsible for all areas of publication, from acquisitions to marketing, TCU Press publishes around twenty books a year in most genres, including scholarly work, fiction, creative nonfiction, poetry, journals, and large-format coffee-table types of books, and many of its books have won prestigious state and national awards. TCU Press is a member of the Association of University Presses and a co-sponsor for the TCU Texas Book Award and for the Texas Literary Hall of Fame.

FRIENDS OF THE TCU LIBRARY

Founded in 1972, the TCU Friends of the Library provide gifts in the form of bequests, endowments, books, manuscripts, and other materials to support the expansion of the library's collections, databases, and special equipment. The Friends of the Library includes a Board, serving Members, Life Members, and staff. Windows, the newsletter of the Friends of the TCU Library, is published twice a year with periodic updates on Library acquisitions, TCU Press releases, awards, and featured stories.

BURNETT SCHOOL OF MEDICINE LIBRARY

Through a former partnership with the University of North Texas Health Science Center, TCU established the Burnett School of Medicine and has since established the Burnett School of Medicine Library. As a department of the Mary Couts Burnett Library, the School of Medicine Library provides medical and health science specific resources, databases, and information services to support the educational, scholarship, and research needs of the students and faculty within the School of Medicine.

TCU LIBRARY ANNEX

Opened in 2014, the Library Annex is located off-site in a temperature and humidity-controlled setting for preservation and archiving of physical items accessible to the TCU community. The annex has a capacity for over 2 million volumes and currently houses 800,000 volumes in its collection.

THE ROLE OF THE DEAN

The Dean of the Mary Couts Burnett Library is the chief administrative, operational, and fiscal leader for the Library and the TCU Press. The Dean provides leadership for planning, budgeting, personnel recruitment and development, fundraising engagements, and represents the Library within the University and at the local, state, regional, and national levels.

Reporting to the Provost and Vice Chancellor for Academic Affairs, the Dean represents the Library and provides support to the Provost in all library-related major planning and policy strategy. The Dean directly supervises, recruits, selects, and monitors a team of management library staff members, including the Associate Dean, Director of Administrative Services, Director of Automated Systems, Director of Special Collections, Marketing/Communications Specialist, and an Administrative Assistant.

OPPORTUNITIES AND CHALLENGES

The next Dean of the Mary Couets Burnett Library will lead the following efforts:

Collaboratively develop, lead, and implement a distinctive and service-oriented vision for the Library:

Working together with the library staff, deans, senior administration, and other key constituents, the next Dean of the Library will identify key priorities that bolster the existing strengths and identify the areas of need for current and future library services. Drawing upon best practices across academic and national library innovations, the new Dean will foster and implement a vision through shared purpose and transparent communication, bringing genuine and tangible value to the University.

Steward, strengthen, and advocate for the financial and operational resources of the Library: The next Dean will bring a focused approach to the library resources across finances, personnel, and physical infrastructure. The ideal Dean will bring expertise and a fiscally savvy approach to negotiating subscriptions, online resources, digital technologies, and future library offerings to ensure the efficient and sustainable use of the library's resources.

Bring forward-thinking, planning, and implementation of digital innovations to the Library: A leader in adapting to the changing requirements and challenges of learning, studying, research, and academic engagement, the next Dean will have the opportunity to shepherd the library as a future-forward leader. The new Dean will have an innovative approach to library services and online resources that embrace new, modernized, and adaptive learning and research technologies that can be implemented by the library to better serve the ever-changing pedagogical and scholarly needs across the campus.

Champion the Library and its critical role in the University's educational mission, both internally and externally: The new Dean of the Library will be a thoughtful and passionate champion for the Library across campus and the community, developing genuine and respected relationships between the staff, various stakeholders, and constituents of the Library. Engagement with the community beyond the campus will bring the next Dean an opportunity to attract and retain new patrons, resources, collections, and gifts, and continue to enhance the reputation of the Library on behalf of the University.

Collaborate, mentor, and support the continued professional development of library staff: The Library is fortunate to have a talented, motivated, loyal, and enthusiastic staff that cares deeply about their work. The Dean of the Library will collaborate across the team to solicit, consider, and genuinely value the views and contributions of all library staff. The next Dean will support library staff in reaching their fullest potential and empower them to take advantage of leadership, career, and professional development opportunities locally, regionally, and nationally.

KEY RESPONSIBILITIES

Additional key responsibilities for the Dean of the Library include:

- Reporting directly to the Provost and operating in an environment where governance is shared, openly and unambiguously, between faculty and administration;
- Assuring the efficient use of resources by developing budgets, monitoring expenditures, and managing projects to implement new technology;
- Representing the Library and the TCU Press in university deliberations;
- Guiding the planning for the Library by gathering pertinent business, financial, service and operations information;

- Identifying and evaluating current and future library trends and options for upgrades to services, catalogues, access, and technology needed;
- Proactively working to attract additional friends and resources to the Library through effective engagement, cultivation of relationships, and outreach on behalf of the Library;
- Setting long-range and operational goals and objectives in consultation with relevant constituencies;
- Maintaining staff by recruiting, selecting, orienting, and training employees;
- Maintaining a safe, secure, and legal work environment;
- Developing personal growth opportunities;
- Accomplishing staff results by communicating job expectations; planning, monitoring and appraising job results; coaching, counseling, and disciplining employees; developing, coordinating, and enforcing systems, policies, procedures, and productivity standards;
- Establishes standards and direct practice of excellent customer service by implementing service expectations, training and monitoring outcomes, and promoting working relationships;
- Designs and guides policy for electronic resources management, electronic records maintenance, and library support for digital scholarship.

REQUIRED QUALIFICATIONS

The Dean will hold an earned master's degree in Library Studies, or its equivalent, from an ALA-accredited institution. A minimum of 10 years' experience in library administration and/or professional library leadership experience, preferably in an independent academic institution, and experience representing the library to a variety of constituencies is required. The Dean serves as the lead budget manager for the library and must have demonstrated experience with budgetary oversight and financial management.

DESIRED QUALITIES

An earned doctorate degree is preferred, and the ideal candidates will possess many of the following:

- A hands-on, forward-thinking, visionary, with transparent leadership and outstanding communication and active listening skills;
- A deep understanding of current issues and trends facing the future of academic libraries nationally and globally;
- A nuanced understanding of, and respect for, the ways in which the library can support and enhance scholarship and pedagogy across a wide array of academic disciplines;
- A collaborative approach to working across campus constituencies and their interconnection with the library, including information technology, faculty, senior leadership, and the community;
- Experience managing a library information technology and automation department;
- A welcoming nature, leading to an easy rapport with faculty, aligned with an understanding of and respect for faculty governance and the ways in which it connects library services to the campus;
- Experience in the academic setting connecting library services to research, analysis, publications, and reporting techniques;
- Exposure and leadership skills in the development and delivery of online learning, educational technologies, and learning management systems;
- Exposure and leadership skills in the development and delivery of innovation and entrepreneurship programs;
- Knowledge of and direct skill with library specific software and operating systems;

- Commitment to and embodiment of the diversity, equity, and inclusion issues from a library perspective;
- Experience managing complex budgets and allocating resources strategically;
- Experience negotiating library subscriptions;
- Experience and success with fund-raising;
- A broad understanding of the work of library staff with an emphasis on training, support, and professional development;
- Experience with medical school collections and a collaborative approach to working with the Burnett School of Medicine;
- Knowledge of the principles and practices of personnel recruitment, selection, development, and evaluation; and
- Ability to review and make recommendations to improve and streamline processes and continue to be in compliance with policies and procedures.

TEXAS CHRISTIAN UNIVERSITY

Texas Christian University is a private university located in Fort Worth, Texas. TCU is a top 100 National University as classified by US News and World Report and has a Carnegie Classification of R2: Doctoral Universities – High Research Activity. The University has a $2.4 billion endowment.

Founded in 1873, Texas Christian University sits on 302 acres nestled in a tree-lined neighborhood of Fort Worth, just minutes away from downtown. TCU's mission has always been rooted in educating individuals to think and act as ethical leaders and responsible citizens of the global community. Starting with just 13 students, brothers Addison and Randolph Clark brought to life their vision of an institution that would "promote literary and scientific education" rooted in values and character. TCU was one of the first co-ed institutions west of the Mississippi, a groundbreaking decision in the 1870s. They succeeded in creating an enriching community for men and women to acquire a liberal arts education and strive for the greater good.

As the world changes dramatically, TCU remains a thriving and connected academic community that prioritizes the support of shared goals and actions for the greater good. Over the past 20 years, TCU has invested more than $1 billion into new and renovated facilities where students are supported in their quest for education, inspiration, and success. Nearly 150 years later, TCU is still honoring its history and legacy, with more than 98,800 living alumni and over 12,200 students striving to serve the greater good and each other.

ACADEMICS

A Carnegie classified R2 Doctoral University – High Research Activity institution with a $2.4 billion endowment, TCU enrolls more than 12,200 students, including approximately 10,500 undergraduate and 1,750 graduate students. It offers 117 undergraduate areas of study and 100 graduate areas of focus. TCU is comprised of nine schools and colleges, including the John V. Roach Honors College and the new Burnett School of Medicine.

The University has over 700 full-time faculty members. With a 13:6:1 student-to-faculty ratio, TCU's teachers are deeply invested in the student's academic journey. The teacher-scholar model embraced by the faculty provides a balance of teaching, scholarship, and service and offers enriching experiences and involvement with impact.

LEADERSHIP

In March 2019, Teresa Abi-Nader Dahlberg was named TCU's Provost and Vice Chancellor for Academic Affairs. Dr. Dahlberg joined TCU at a time of significant momentum and aspiration for our faculty, staff, and students. Recent investments in academics, such as the launch of a medical school as well as more than $1 billion in capital improvements, including new labs, innovative technology, academic facilities, and the new TCU Music Center and Van Cliburn Concert Hall enable TCU's continued success.

Dr. Dahlberg views higher education as a transformative experience. She brings a wealth of knowledge in interdisciplinary research, high-impact teaching practices, and inclusive excellence. To learn more about Dr. Dahlberg, see her profile.

Dr. Dahlberg earned a bachelor's degree from the University of Pittsburgh and master's and doctoral degrees from North Carolina State University. She has been recognized as Woman of the Year by the University of North Carolina at Charlotte (2005), Diversity in Business Catalyst by the Charlotte Business Journal (2006), Woman of Distinction for STEM Education by the Girl Scouts Hornets' Nest Council (2012), and was inducted into the electrical and computer engineering Alumni Hall of Fame by N.C. State University (2017).

VISION IN ACTION: LEAD ON

Higher education is experiencing dynamic change and TCU is eagerly preparing for a future of continued growth and academic excellence. Now more than ever, there are exciting opportunities to engage, educate, and support students while continuing to strengthen TCU's position as a leading university.

As TCU looks toward the future, it identifies three foundational themes that transcend the institutional goals and are key to the University's strategic direction – Diversity and Inclusion, Student Experience, and Student Support. These fundamental themes are explored in TCU's strategic plan: Vision in Action: Lead On. Below are four key points of focus in the plan:

Strengthen the academic profile and reputation – The academic reputation of a university is of great, perhaps critical, importance in determining whether undergraduate and graduate students choose to come to TCU. Similarly, it influences faculty when they make a career choice and commitment.

Strengthen the endowment – The tremendous generosity of TCU donors throughout history has shaped TCU. The caretaking and stewardship of the endowment is essential to the growth of TCU. The demographics of the future demand that TCU prioritize the use, value, and growth of the endowment, which will allow TCU to continue to support a balanced and academically distinguished academic enterprise.

Strengthen the TCU experience and campus culture – TCU has always promoted ethical values and principled leadership as core to its culture. The TCU community is uniquely positioned to model inclusive leadership within a campus community where all are welcome.

Strengthen the workforce (both employees and graduates) – Each student who entrusts themselves to TCU’s guidance, each faculty who serves as a teacher and a scholar, and each staff member will encounter a diverse and stimulating community, profoundly dedicated to civility, respect, gratitude, and inclusiveness.

STUDENTS

TCU continues to attract some of the nation’s most outstanding student talent to Fort Worth. For the 2022 first-year class, the University received 16,197 applications, making TCU one of the most selective schools in the state of Texas. Currently, TCU enrolls more than 10,500 undergraduates and 1,750 graduate students, with a first-year retention rate of 91.7 percent. The University has benefitted from significant enrollment growth with first-year student enrollment increasing from 1,630 first-year students in 2008 to 2,491 first-year students in 2022, while maintaining a favorable student-faculty ratio. Twenty-eight percent of students self-identify as a member of a minority group, five percent are international students, and forty-five percent are from out-of-state.

Each year, TCU offers hundreds of needs-based and merit scholarships to ensure that talented and academically gifted students can access a TCU education. TCU continues to grow the financial aid budget, as they also develop the people and programs that TCU offers.

At TCU, students benefit from an average undergraduate class size of 26 and a 13:6:1 student to faculty ratio. TCU students are supported by more than 2,300 faculty and staff. TCU’s focus on the student is reflected in a number of accolades. The Princeton Review ranks TCU as #5 for best alumni networks among private schools, and #4 best schools for internships, and The Wall Street Journal put TCU at #18 for student engagement.

CHURCH AFFILIATION

TCU is affiliated with the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ) and the “C” in TCU reflects this historical relationship. TCU is not a traditionally “Christian university”; but the University honors and recognizes the strong institutional ties of the past. Students come from more than 50 religious traditions and can participate in 24 recognized student religious organizations on campus, including groups for Christian, Jewish, and Muslim students, among others. Faculty and staff belong to a wide array of religious affiliations (including no religious affiliation) and there is no religious expectation for employment.

CAMPUS CULTURE

The TCU campus is beautiful with manicured, tree-lined walkways and welcoming common spaces. Many say it immediately “feels like home.” TCU offers a seamless blend of the traditional and modern, weaving athletic facilities and stadiums with performing arts venues and state-of-the-art academic spaces. You’ll walk through stately columned grounds that give way to sleek, modern, technology-first spaces that invite collaboration and interaction.

The sense of community is unparalleled; fifty-one percent of the undergraduate student body lives on campus—a percentage that has increased each of the past five years as a result of the University’s commitment to residential living. With a robust on-campus life, students have more than 300 organizations to participate in and a thriving community in Fort Worth to engage and serve.

DIVERSITY, EQUITY, AND INCLUSION

At TCU, diversity, equity, and inclusion (DEI) are an educational imperative directly tied to the University mission, vision, and strategic plan. Fulfilling TCU's mission to develop ethical leaders and critical thinkers in a global community depends on the University's ability to attract and retain students, faculty, and staff from diverse backgrounds. A diverse and inclusive campus leads to innovation, broadened perspective, and understanding values that are foundational aspects of higher education. For the fourth consecutive year, TCU has earned the Higher Education Excellence in Diversity Award, which highlights ongoing commitment to build a comprehensive DEI strategy that aligns with core values and creates a campus culture where everyone is respected and included. DEI is a foundational theme in TCU's Vision in Action: Lead On Strategic Plan.

The Office of Diversity and Inclusion is leading the University in making TCU a more inclusive campus. A few milestones in the past two years include an increase in learning and development opportunities, mandatory selection committee training, and the initiative to implement the DEI Essential Competency requirement in TCU's core curriculum. Please visit here for the 2018-2020 ODI Report: ODI 2018-2020 Report. To learn more about TCU's commitment to DEI and more on their current DEI Efforts, please visit the Diversity, Equity and Inclusion web page.

TCU's colleges and schools are aligned with the Inclusive Excellence Academic Affairs strategic priorities.

LOCATION AND LOCAL CULTURE

Like TCU, Fort Worth has the approachable, friendly charm of a smaller town, but offers the amenities, cultural activities, diversity, and unique personality of a much larger city. Fort Worth, Texas, is the 13th largest city in the United States, with an ever-growing population nearing one million. Fort Worth and TCU have grown together in a nearly 150-year relationship. You'll find that many Horned Frogs remain here after graduation, thanks to the region's thriving job market.

Fort Worth is part of the Dallas-Fort Worth (DFW) metropolitan area, the fourth-largest metropolitan area in the United States, and the number one tourist destination in Texas. In 2018, bizjournals.com ranked Fort Worth the seventh most affordable city to live and work in the United States, and U.S. News and World Report named Fort Worth one of the Best Places to Live. Fort Worth, Dallas, and Arlington all rank among the top 25 most diverse cities in the country. Fort Worth also ranked highly in the Human Rights Campaign's Municipal Equality Index, which measures cities' inclusion of lesbian, gay, bisexual, and transgender residents.

Fort Worth is known for its vast array of cultural, educational, and entertainment opportunities. The city boasts three world class art museums—the Kimbell Art Museum (architect Louis I. Kahn and architect Renzo Piano), the Modern Art Museum of Fort Worth (architect Tadao Ando), and the Amon Carter Museum of American Art (architect Philip Johnson). The Bass Performance Hall is one of the premier performance venues in the country, home to world-class touring productions; resident dance, music, and opera companies; and performances by TCU students and faculty. Concerts, film festivals, and other events are held regularly at Sundance Square, Panther Island, and Near Southside venues.

Outdoor recreation opportunities abound, taking advantage of the nearly year-round good weather. Along the river are over 70 miles of Trinity Trails bike/walk paths and parks. The Fort Worth Zoo, ranked #1 zoo in the U.S., and Fort Worth Botanic Gardens offer spectacular park experiences and frequent events. The Fort Worth Nature Center has 20 miles of hiking trails through native habitats. Numerous other parks offer facilities for land and water sports.

There are several public transportation options in Fort Worth. Molly the Trolley provides free rides around downtown. The Trinity Metro bus system provides coverage to much of Tarrant County, and TexRail and the Trinity Railway Express offer service between downtown Fort Worth, Dallas, and the DFW airport. There are also 46 BCycle bike share stations around the city, including two on the TCU campus.

DFW offers many educational opportunities. Including TCU, the Metroplex has over a dozen institutions of higher education and award-winning K-12 schools. Seven schools in north Texas earned the U.S. Department of Education's Blue Ribbon award in 2016. In 2018, the National Center for Urban School Transformation awarded four Fort Worth schools the America's Best Urban Schools Award.

The DFW Metroplex was the fastest growing metro area in the U.S. from 2016 to 2017. As of 2017, there were 22 Fortune 500 companies and more than 10,000 corporate headquarters in DFW. This vital economic area is adding over 100,000 jobs per year; in April 2018, the metroplex had an unemployment rate of 3.6 percent, well below the national unemployment rate. More broadly, the North Texas region is one of the most vibrant economic regions within the United States. Alliance Texas in north Fort Worth is the nation's largest inland port with 488 companies utilizing its logistics and distribution center. DFW Airport is a major hub that provides direct connections for easy access to most major cities in the U.S. and many international destinations.
